UN Men Leave Matadi After Bitter Battle

By PATRICK MASSEY

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Weary U. N. soldiers laid down their arms and withdrew from the key Congo port of Matadi after 24 hours of bitter street fighting with Congolese soldiers, a U. N. spokesman reported today.

Negotiations are going on with the Congolese government to get a U. N. garrison back into the town. If these break down, the United Nations is empowered to use force as a last resort, the spokesman said.

Two Sudanese U. N. soldiers—of the 120-man garrison—are known to have been killed in the battle, which raged throughout Saturday and until noon Sunday. Twenty other Sudanese were wounded. Twelve are missing.

A Canadian signal captain also is missing and the U. N. spokesman said there are grave fears for his safety.

Matadi is the Congo's principal supply port and without control there, the U. N. supply operation would be gravely endangered.

Trouble blew up in the hillside town 60 miles up the Congo River when Congolese units erected road blocks to impede the movement of U. N. personnel. Two helicopters also were seized as they touched down at nearby Dima. That was on Friday.

Saturday the Congolese tried to dislodge an 11-man guard of U. N. Sudanese which had been thrown around a hillside villa used as a communications center by a Canadian signal unit.

The Congolese killed a Sudanese and wrecked the post.

A Canadian captain who went out to talk with the attacking Congolese was not seen again.

Vastly outnumbered and with their ammunition running low, the Canadian signal post and its Sudanese guards surrendered Saturday evening.

Elsewhere in the town, fighting continued until noon Sunday.

A five-man Danish movement control unit still is operating in the port and the Congolese have pledged not to interfere with U. N. stores stacked in Matadi's dockside warehouses.

Asks Money to Battle Crime in U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today asked Congress to give the Justice Department an extra $1,158,000 to step up its drive against organized crime and racketeering and to intensify the fight on juvenile delinquency.

The money was requested for use during the fiscal year starting next July 1.

The White House said that $540,000 of the total request was to permit the Justice Department's criminal division to engage additional attorneys for the drive against crime and racketeering. This would be in addition to the $15,120,000 originally requested for general legal activities of the Justice Department.

Kennedy requested an increase of $618,000 for the Bureau of Prisons to expand the fight on juvenile delinquency. The original request for that bureau's general activities was $46 million.

"The prime objective of this effort," the White House said, "will be to help juvenile and youthful offenders about to be released from federal institutions to return to normal community life."

"Emphasis will be placed on vocational training, counseling and job placement. Juvenile and youthful offenders in federal institutions now number 5,000 and the number is increasing annually. A great step forward in combatting juvenile delinquency can be achieved through successful re-direction and reeducation of this most vulnerable group."

Some Damage by Tornado in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A storm described as a tornado ripped through a rural community near Carlisle Sunday and turbulent weather buffeted several other Arkansas communities.

No injuries were reported but there was considerable property damage.

A funnel cloud that did not touch the ground was reported north of Walnut Ridge. Property damage was reported from high winds at Otwell, near Jonesboro, and there were flash floods at Search and Carlisle.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Little Rock issued a tornado warning for northwest Arkansas at 6 p. m. Sunday, but it expired at midnight with no tornadoes reported. There was some rain, and Fayetteville reported hail.

The Carlisle storm damaged barns, outbuildings and farm equipment, and tore the porch off a house. It loosed roofing tin on Rock Island Railroad tracks and one train was delayed. A pole was blown across Cotton Belt Railroad tracks at Otwell by more high wind.

The Walnut Ridge Air Force Base reported it sighted a tornado on radar about 25 miles north of Walnut Ridge, but it dissipated. A pilot told the FAA station at Walnut Ridge he saw a funnel below him and tracked it until it died.

Carlisle, Jonesboro and Walnut Ridge are in an almost straight line from southwest to northeast, the direction tornadoes travel, and it is likely that the same storm hit all three areas.

Rain and temperatures in the 60s and 70s were reported in the rest of the state.

Sheriff Warren Minton of Lonoke who surveyed the damages at Carlisle, said roofing tin was strewn across fields and telephone poles were snapped off. Some communications were disrupted. Western Union said some of its lines were down.

Minton said the storm hit an area about two miles east of Carlisle, on the Lonoke-Prairie county line.

Heavy rain and hail accompanied the storm. Minton said the area is located in a "tornado alley" which has such storms every few years. There was no immediate estimate of damage. Several farms were damaged.

Another Indiana storm toppled eight big smokestacks at Austin, in the southern part of the state. A half dozen persons were injured in the Indiana storms, requiring hospital treatment.

Rain, snow and fog plagued widespread areas of the midcontinent.

A small tornado spun into a rural community near Stanton, Tenn., killing an 8-month old child and two adults. All were Negroes. Their houses were badly damaged.

Small tornadoes hit in southern Illinois and Indiana, but only two injuries were reported.

One twister cut a destructive path through Litchfield, in southeastern Illinois damaging several homes.

Board at Odds on Speedup of Integration

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Two colleagues took issue today with a Little Rock School Board member's charge that the board has been "listening to racists and bigots" in its approach to school desegregation.

And, said the two, Board Secretary Ted Lamb was off base when he declared that the group is dominated by President Everett Tucker.

Tucker himself declined to comment.

Lamb stirred up the controversy with a statement that the board must end discrimination in the Little Rock school system by 1963 by admitting all qualified Negroes to once all white schools.

He said the board had been using the state pupil placement law to hold down court-ordered integration and added that in view of last week's court speedup order it must look toward complete desegregation.

Lamb declared the board majority, led by Tucker, was paying more attention "to a handful of bigots and racists than to those who work for justice and righteousness in our city."

Member W. C. McDonald denied today that the board is "Tucker-dominated."

"Obviously it isn't Lamb dominated," he added.

He termed the Lamb statement "the most uncalled for and unwarranted attack on the school board by anybody to date."

He said the board wasn't taking its cue from racists and bigots either.

B. Frank Mackey, another board member, made a similar statement.

Mackey said the board has tried to get education here back on a sound footing.

Like Tucker, members J. H. Cottrell Jr. and Russell Matson Jr. refused to comment.

Lamb's statement came over the weekend as it appeared integration would spread to the city's junior high schools next fall.

Eleven Negroes now attend Little Rock high schools but there is no integration in junior high or elementary grades.

Lamb said the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals' decision last week that the board was misapplying the placement law "confirms my long-held conviction that the present policy of the school board is leading Little Rock down the road to further strife and economic uncertainty."

He said the school board must realize that federal courts mean business and must stop trying to out-manuever the government through the placement law.

He said the court had made it clear that the placement law may be used only if it serves as a means to make an orderly transition to desegregated schools by 1963.

$2 Million a Year Set Up for Increases

By JOHN SUTTON

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval F. Faubus said today that he is altering his omnibus construction bill to provide $2 million annually for teachers' salaries from it.

Faubus said last Friday he didn't plan any changes in the bill, which is pending in both legislative branches.

He said today the money for teachers would come from savings in other allotments under the $17 million measure.

An amendment is being drawn to effect the change, he said.

The construction bill, a companion of the plan for a $60 million capital expenditures bond issue, apparently hasn't had as much legislative support as Faubus would wish.

Attempts to bring it up for a vote were abandoned last week in the face of opposition.

The measure to authorize a popular vote on the proposed bond issue passed without trouble.

There has been speculation that the public school forces, already opposing Faubus on the teacher retirement issue, don't like the bill, which in conjunction with the bond proposal, covers a wide range of items ranging from state construction to more money for county fairs.

The Faubus forces may feel the school people would be more favorably disposed to the omnibus bill if they benefited from it.

Faubus announced the new plan in a prepared statement and talked to reporters about it.

Faubus was asked if the proposed amendment was an attempt to gain legislative support.

This answer: "I don't only in reality and that which is possible. This is not always the desirable."

On another matter, Faubus said he is also having an amendment prepared guaranteeing that local school districts will spend the same amount percentage-wise for teachers salaries as was spent in the preceding year.

He said this is intended to present a short cutting of teachers salaries.

Economy of State Is Very Good

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—

Despite a fourth quarter business slump last year and an increase in unemployment the early part of this year, Arkansas' economy picture should be bright in 1961 according to the Arkansas Business Bulletin.

The University of Arkansas business publication, which indicated that the state's economy has expanded during the past decade, says further progress is expected this year.

According to the bulletin's statistics, personal income reached an all-time high of $2.4 billion last year, a 3.8 per cent rise over 1959. But farm income dipped below the 1959 level.

While farmers' cash receipts totaled $689 million in 1960, it marked a 5.2 per cent decline from the 1959 totals.

Other statistics showed: Non-farm employment rose 2 per cent over 1959 while non-farm income increased 5 per cent.

Unemployment was higher in 1960 by 6.8 per cent. However this was partly due to a rise in the state's labor force.

Consumers spent 2.4 per cent more last year and added over $40 million to savings accounts.

In 1960 manufacturing employment rose by 1.7 per cent with a monthly average of more than 100,000 jobs for the first time. Average hourly wages climbed 2.4 per cent while the number of hours worked per week declined by 1.4 per cent.

Court Refuses to Act on Sit in Appeals

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today unanimously refused to act on an appeal by 12 persons arrested during two "sit-in" demonstrations at a white lunch counter in Tallahassee, Fla.

It was the first time the high tribunal had been asked to rule on a case growing out of a wave of sit-in demonstrations in the South.

The court gave no reason for its refusal to act on the appeal. It merely listed the case among a group of appeals in which it denied hearings.

The 12 persons who appealed had sat at a counter in an F. W. Woolworth Co. store at 120-126 N. Monroe St., in Tallahassee.

Eight of those who appealed are Negroes. The others are white. Each was sentenced in Tallahassee Municipal Court to pay $300 fine or serve 90 days in jail. The demonstrations occurred Feb. 20 and March 12, 1960.

The 12 questioned whether their arrest and convictions constituted "unlawful interference" with their freedom of speech and liberty of contract—right to do business with the establishment—in violation of constitutional guarantees of due process and equal protection of the laws.

A tornado caused heavy wind damage at Jerseyville.

High winds smashed a concrete service station in Effingham, Ill., and tore down a theater screen in the area.

The winds caused widespread damage to other buildings, trees and utility lines.

The twisters were the second to hit Illinois in less than two days. A tornado ripped into Chicago's South Side late Saturday killing a man, injuring 100 and causing damage estimated at $5 million.

Heavy snow continued falling in Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

In the Minneapolis-St. Paul area, hundreds of cars were stalled on highways and side roads piled high with snow that drifted under 20 m. p.m. winds.

Six inches of snow fell in five hours up to midnight, atop four inches that fell Saturday over the area. The Weather Bureau saw no letup in the snowfall.

In Iowa, the state patrol warned motorists that snow, rain and sleet had left "a sheet of ice across the state." In northwest Iowa numerous communities reported six inches of snow.

A tornado struck at Jerseyville Ill., early today. There were reports of excessive wind damage to property and utility lines.

Damage was small except where one twister caused heavy damage to storage buildings and boats on the Gravois arm of the Lake of the Ozarks.

In the Pacific northwest Sunday, a rain storm powered by winds of up to 83 m.p.h. raced through the state, then changed to a blinding snowstorm in the Cascade Mountains. Property was damaged and utility lines downed.

The snow continued today, with 18 inches reported at Mt. Hood. The same storm blew into Washington State and into British Columbia, with largely the same effect on property and utility lines.

In the East Sunday, tempera-tures were generally moderate, though high in some areas. Wash-ington, D. C., had an 80-degree reading, setting a record for the date.

Heavy weekend rains in Ohio sent rivers and tributaries over flood stage in many communities.

The threat of rising floodwaters along the Mobile River in Ala-bama forced suspension of rail-road passenger service on the main lines of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad.

Second Trial of Mrs. Rand Set

BENTONVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The second trial of Mrs. Virginia Rand of Rogers for the bedroom slaying of Rogers restaurant op-erator H. V. (Buddy) Clark has been set for March 27.

Mrs. Rand was sentenced to eight years imprisonment for the fatal shooting of Clark on Aug. 9, 1959, but the Arkansas Supreme Court overturned the conviction.

Mrs. Rand told police Clark in-vaded her home while her hus-band was away and would not leave.

A second trial had been set for Feb. 13, but that date passed while defense attorneys tried un-successfully to get the case re-moved to federal court.

Justice George Rose Smith dis-missed their appeal in a 73-word opinion. There was no motion for a new trial, and Smith said the high court's review was limited to a search for error in the court record. No error was found.

Returns to Job Wearing Low Heels

NORWICH, Conn. (AP)—Judith Elwell went back to her job in the Department of Public Utilities today, wearing low heels.

It was a compromise of sorts in her battle with her employer, who has banned certain items of apparel such as leotards, slacks, bobby socks, ballet slippers, moc-casins "and other shoes without heels."

Mrs. Elwell, armed with a doctor's certificate, was permit-ted to return to work in low heel shoes.

Manager Philip L. White issued his edict aimed at ending what he called the "sloppy appearance of female employees," and Mrs. Elwell complied for a while but then came to her typing job in flat shoes.

She was suspended last Mon-day. She appealed the suspension to the City Pension Board.

A heavy woman, Mrs. Elwell told the board at a hearing Satur-day that she preferred low heels not only because of her weight but because she is expecting a child.

While permitting Mrs. Elwell to wear flat shoes if she brought a doctor's recommendation to do so the board upheld White's right to issue the no-sloppiness order.

Gls Must Pay Own Auto Freight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Servicemen overseas can no longer buy foreign cars tax-free and ship them home duty-free with the government paying the freight.

The new order was given Sunday by the Kennedy administration as part of the effort to cut down the outflow of gold and dollars from the United States.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara previously had indicated such a step would be taken. That was after President Kennedy rescinded the controversial order of the previous administration cutting the number of families of servicemen allowed to stay with them abroad.

The foreign car order goes into effect immediately. On June 30 the administration said it intends to let a law lapse that allows servicemen to send $50 worth of gifts home duty free. When the law expires the limit would revert to $10 per shipment — the amount now applicable to tourists.

This action is separate from Kennedy's request to Congress to cut from $500 to $100 the amount of foreign goods U. S. tourists can bring back home without paying customs duties.

The administration hopes to bring about a spending reduction of $75 to $110 a year for each serviceman abroad. This would save $75 million to $110 million a year in foreign spending of dollars.

The White House announcement said McNamara also will take steps to:

1. Make use of foreign currencies held by the Treasury.
2. Encourage sale of U. S. goods at exchanges and commissaries and regulate sales of various foreign articles.
3. Direct military departments to reduce as much as possible the number of foreign personnel employed in post exchanges, officers' clubs and the like.

Code of Conduct

LONDON (AP)—Support grew today for drafting a code of conduct outlawing racial discrimination in the British Commonwealth.

Suggestions along that line were put forward as a way to compromise the major problem—race relations—that confronts the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference starting here Wednesday.

All interested persons are invited. The Collect was repeated by the members of the club after which the hostess served delicious pie and coffee to 11 members and Mrs. Phillips.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Roy Fry, April 6, 1961 at 1:30 p. m.

Mrs. C. L. Roberts Hostess to Homemakers H. D. Club

Mrs. C. L. Roberts was hostess to the Homemakers Home Demonstration Club on February 28. The meeting was opened with the group singing "Love Lifted Me". Mrs. Roberts gave the devotional, with her topic being on "Love — The Spiritual Wardrobe". Mrs. Breeding led in prayer. The roll call was answered by each member giving the meat dish she liked best. Mrs. Archie Smith president, conducted the short business meeting. The children's Colony at Conway was selected as the project for the year. Names were drawn for secret pals.

An interesting demonstration on "The Buying and Preparing of Meats" was given by the foods leader, Mrs. Roberts. The hostess served refreshments to 14. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Beggs.

Rose Garden Club Meets in the Garrett Story Home

The Rose Garden Club of Hope met March 3 in the Garrett Story home. Each member brought a trial arrangement of her flower show assignment, and these were discussed thoroughly. Mrs. J. O. Jonquils, spirea, hyacinths, and japonica were used as the centerpiece for the dining table, where the 18 members were served a salad plate and coffee. Hostesses were Mrs. Garrett Story, Mrs. S. L. Murphy, and Mrs. Hollis Luck.

DOROTHY DIX Man Who Paid His Debt to Society Gets Cold Shoulder

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: How is an ex-convict supposed to act?

A while back I got into trouble with the law, served time in the state reformatory, learned my lesson and paid my debt to society. But people don't go along with that.

It is not what people say but what they do that gets me down. When I spot people on the street whom I used to know I say, "Hello!" They pretend not to know me. When I walk into a room full of people, everybody quits talking. Even close relatives act sort of stiff, as if they were forcing conversation.

One of the conditions of my parole is that I get a job. In the last month I've applied for over 50 jobs and the only one where they'd take me was on a highway construction gang. It sure makes a guy discouraged.

How can I get people to treat me like one of them again? — Discouraged

Dear Discouraged: If you are sincerely trying to do what is right, you will win out in the end even though the present is rough going. There are a number of big companies willing to give men like yourself another chance. One is Brown and Bigelow, calendar makers, of St. Paul, Minn. Write its Personnel Department, state your qualifications, be frank about your prison record and mark the letter "Confidential." It will be treated so. Its former president, the late Charles Allen Ward, went out of his way to help ex-convicts because he himself was one. His story inspired thousands of others to be their best selves. Of the many ex-cons employed by him, only one betrayed his trust.

Dear Helen:

I am 14, have a swell family and do above average as a high school freshman. My problem is I like a boy who is half Puerto Rican, half Italian and active in our church. As yet my parents haven't met him formally but do speak to him in church. Mother doesn't think he is for me but— if I like him—it's okay with her. Father doesn't approve. How can I convince them that he is as wonderful as I say? I can't invite him for dinner because the kids around here just don't do that. But I do go shopping, bowling and other places with him, but still I don't feel right even though people say we make a swell couple. What would you advise? — Cocoa

Dear Cocoa: You are too young to be seriously dating any boy no matter what his nationality. Your parents may be the finest in the world but they are lacking in responsibility if they don't make it their business to know well every boy their daughter dates. What's wrong about asking him to dinner? Just because other kids don't bring their friends home for a meal is no reason why you shouldn't.

Dear Helen:

I have 14 children. The father makes good money, but never sends a cent home. How much is each child allowed a month by Welfare? —Mab

Dear Mab: To think of your children in terms of how much you should be paid for them is to put a price on their heads.

Signs Point to Okay of Priority Bills

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's legislative program sails into the shoals of congressional controversy this week with every indication that the vanguard of his priority proposals will win approval.

The Senate will take up by midweek a bill to provide $394 million in loans and grants for areas of chronic unemployment.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he hopes the measure will be passed substantially in its present form before the week is out.

The Senate Finance Committee will hold a hearing Wednesday on a House-passed bill to extend unemployment compensation payments to jobless persons who have exhausted their benefits. Mansfield has scheduled action in the Senate on it next week. It is expected to sail through with minimum opposition.

Kennedy plans to send a farm message to Congress Tuesday. He has scheduled a housing message for Thursday.

The kind of reception these and other controversial programs receive may be tested to an extent by the Senate's action on the depressed areas legislation.

As Democratic strategists view it, there is likely to be only one close battle in the Senate over the bill. That involves what is largely a Democratic family argument — whether the program shall be administered by a separate agency or the Commerce Department.

Democratic leaders think they can dispose of Republican substitutes without much trouble.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois has on tap a substitute calling for an $80-million program similar to that proposed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. All but $5 million of government funds would be for plant loans in depressed industrial areas.

Dirksen's bill is given almost no chance of passage. Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., has an intermediate proposal for a $214-million program.

Constitution Interpreted Differently

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Constitution contains no language specifically mentioning the question of federal aid to parochial schools.

When it says about religion is in the 1st amendment — "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

Different people read this differently.

President Kennedy, for example says the Constitution clearly prohibits federal aid to parochial schools.

But Rep. John W. McCormack, the House Democratic leader, like Kennedy a Roman Catholic from Massachusetts, insists there is no constitutional bar.

As Kennedy said at his news conference last Wednesday, the Everson case is probably the most celebrated court decision bearing on the issue.

In 1947, the Supreme Court, dividing 5-4, upheld the right of Evring Township, near Trenton, N. J., to transport Catholic parochial school pupils in regular school buses. Arch B. Everson attacked the township's order permitting the Catholic pupils to use school buses, and carried the case to the Supreme Court.

Justice Hugo L. Black spoke for the majority. He was joined by the Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson and Justices Stanley F. Reed, William O. Douglas and Frank

Arkansan Named Wildlife Official

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Paul A. Herbert, East Lansing, Mich., has been elected president of the National Wildlife Federation at the organization's 25th annual meeting.

Herbert moves up from the vice presidency to succeed Claud D. Kelley of Atmore, Okla., who has been president for 11 years.

William Apple of Little Rock, Ark., was named to a three-year term as vice president, succeeding Herbert.

Murphy. The late Justice Wiley Rutledge wrote the dissenting opinion. He was joined by Justices Robert H. Jackson, Felix Frankfurter and Harold H. Burton.

In upholding the right of Evring Township to provide free bus rides for children attending Catholic schools, Black said it was no more a breach of the wall between church and state than detaining policemen to protect children from traffic hazards on the way to and from school.

But Black, referring to the 1st Amendment, used language Kennedy apparently had in mind when he said that running through both majority and minority opinions was a clear prohibition against direct aid to parochial schools.

Black wrote: "Neither the state nor the federal government can set up a church. Neither can pass laws which aid one religion, aid all religions, or prefer one religion over another."

Cincinnati Could Knock Off O. State

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

If any team has a chance of knocking off champion Ohio State in the National Collegiate (NCAA) basketball tournament, it may be a neighbor—red-hot Cincinnati.

Ohio State has a 28-game winning streak going, counting five at the end of last season. Cincinnati, recovering from the loss by graduation of Oscar (Big O) Robertson, has won 18 straight and acts as if it has no idea of quitting.

Both the Ohio teams clinched undisputed conference championships over the weekend, officially qualifying for spots in the NCAA championships. The draw puts them in opposite brackets. If they keep winning their streaks won't collide until the tournament final at Kansas City March 25.

The fields for the two big postseason events—the NCAA, the official college title tournament, and the National Invitation opening March 16 at Madison Square Garden—are almost but not quite complete.

At least seven and possibly eight teams are yet to be determined for the sprawling NCAA, which gets its regional eliminations under way March 14. Three teams are yet to be officially chosen for the 12-team NIT.

Already in the NIT are Memphis State, Providence, DePaul, Detroit, Army Miami (Fla.), Dayton, Temple and Niagara.

The NIT must wait until next Saturday for its Skyline representative. That's when Utah and Colorado State meet at Provo, Utah in a playoff for the conference crown and attendant NCAA berth. Colorado State forced the playoff by upsetting Utah Saturday night 50-49.

Eastern Kentucky's 67-54 upset of Moorehead tossed the Ohio Valley race into a three-way snarl which must be unraveled by a playoff. Eastern and Moorehead play again tonight, the winner meeting Western Kentucky Wednesday for the championship.

Kentucky and Vanderbilt clash Thursday night at Knoxville to determine which carries the Southeastern Conference banner into the NCAA. They tied for second place behind Mississippi State, which is passing up the tournament because of an unwritten state law against competition with Negroes.

Loyola can clinch the West Coast Athletic Conference title by beating Pepperdine Tuesday. New Mexico State can tie the Arizona State for the Border Conference crown by beating Hardin-Simmons.

Sanders Wins $30,000 New Orleans Meet

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Doug Sanders, despite an often-criticized swing, a set of woods "not worth $7.50" and a 15-month victory drought, popped up among golf's leading money winners today after winning the $30,000 Greater New Orleans Open invitational tournament.

Sanders, 27, a Georgian by birth who lives in Florida and plays out of Ojai, Calif., employed his abbreviated, staccato swing to near perfection for a four-round total of 272, good enough for a five-stroke bulge.

Gay Brewer Jr., of Crystal River, Fla., who had his troubles on the final day, and Mac Main of Danville, Va., who didn't have any, tied for the runnerup spot at 277.

South Africa's Gary Player and Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La., trailed at 280 with tournament favorite Arnold Palmer of Miami, Fla., heading a group at 283.

The winner's check of $4,300 was welcomed in the Sanders household, the first Sanders has won since December 1959. Not that the Sanders' bankroll is depleted—no, indeed. The jackpot hiked his 1961 earnings to $13,594, second only to Palmer and Player.

Sanders had four rounds of 68-75-69-70 for a total only two away from the tournament record set last year by Dow Finsterwald.

About 3,000 dentists are trained in the United States each year.

tonight. Ohio State won the Big Ten championship by beating Michigan State 91-83 while its chief challenger, Iowa, fell before Indiana 78-69.

Cincinnati's 18th straight victim was Marshall 69-57 and this also was the team's 23rd victory in 26 games.

There were at least two surprise additions to the NCAA list over the weekend, both the result of tournament wins. George Washington, a team which had a 6-16 regular season record, clinaxed a 3-game sweep through the Southern Conference tournament by beating William & Mary in the final 83-82. Wake Forest, beaten 10 times, routed Duke 96-81 for the Atlantic Coast Conference title.

Princeton gained an NCAA tournament berth by beating Harvard 71-59, thus clinching the Ivy League championship. Southern California won the Big Five by thumping Stanford 79-61 while UCLA upset Washington 84-68.

Valley Springs Wins State B Title

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Valley Springs holds the 1961 Arkansas Class B state basketball championship, and three Valley Springs players head an all-state team picked after the finals of Saturday night's tournament.

Valley beat Hickory Ridge 55-53 in the finals, leading all the way and fending off a late Hickory Ridge surge.

Johnny Heard scored 23 points to lead Valley Springs in the finale. The others on Valley's three-man contingent on the all-state team are Jim Ellis and Jerry Cash, the most valuable player.

Hickory Ridge placed high scorer Gerald House and top rebounder Griffin Burnett on the all-state team. Jimmy Grady, the team's floor leader, paced Hickory Ridge in scoring in the last game with 13 points.

Valley Springs' height and shooting strength were too much for the little men of Hickory Ridge, who turned in a top effort in an underdog role. Hickory Ridge came to the meet with three little men (5-5 and 5-6) and two medium-sized ones, and wasn't even expected to survive the first round. Its coach, Grover Cooper, won a state Class B title at Valley View in 1956.

Valley Springs couldn't break open the championship game, but led 17-15 at the end of the first period, 37-32 at halftime and 46-43 at the end of the third quarter. Hickory Ridge surged at the end and had a last shot that was short and late.

Amity got the sportsmanship award and Marmaduke won the scholastic award, based on highest average grade points of the players.

The other members of the Class B all-state team were Larry Taylor of Amity, Ollie Knowles of Jesselville, Leon O'Neil of Oden, Jerry Morrow of Biggers-Reyno and Leon Clements of Kingland.

similar intent is already pending. Faubus also announced a proposed bill to prevent funds allotted to the public school fund from being used to pay construction bond debts.

It specifically would prevent public school money from being used to retire bonds issued for improvements at the University of Arkansas, seven state-supported colleges, the State Hospital, the Children's Colony, the School for the Blind and Deaf and McRae Sanatorium.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Legislature entered the final four days of its 1961 session today with a truck weight increase controversy and the teacher retirement fuss still unsettled.

In addition, Gov. Orval E. Faubus' $17 million omnibus construction bill appeared in trouble at the end of last week and may turn out to be the most ticklish issue of the home stretch.

The battleground for the truck weight increase bill is the House, where Perry Rep. Paul Van Dusen has threatened to filibuster the measure to death. He has twice kept it from coming to a vote with that tactic.

The Senate must pass on the teacher retirement problem, since the House has passed bills embodying both the Faubus and the Arkansas Education Association

Fullmer Now Wants Paul Pender

By PATRICK McNULTY

Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer's one good eye was fixed firmly today on Paul Pender's limited version of the 160-pound crown.

Sugar Ray Robinson, his 21-year-career perhaps finished by Fullmer in their nationally televised Dumblybrook, was glumly considering his future.

Fullmer, his left eye closed tight by a Robinson right, said before leaving for his Utah mink ranch: "I'd like to fight Pender and clear up the muddled middleweight picture. The division should have an undisputed champion."

Norman Rothschild, a co-promoter of Saturday's bloody brawl, said there was a good chance of a Fullmer-Pender title fight in June at the Las Vegas convention center where Fullmer whipped Robinson in their fourth meeting Saturday night.

The Robinson camp was bitterly critical of the battle which destroyed the 40-year-old ex-champion's hopes of regaining the crown for an unprecedented sixth time.

They objected especially to the third round, when Fullmer bombed a dazed and hurt Robinson for several seconds after the bell.

The rugged champion set a furious, wild-swinging pace—but Robinson rallied after his third-round beating and finished the nationally televised 15-rounder slugging toe-to-toe.

The cards gave Fullmer the decision unanimously, but the ring announcement was misunderstood at ringside. For a few chaotic moments, some thought Robinson had won.

The battle was a rich pay day for both fighters. There was a $140,000 gate and $150,000 television money. Fullmer got 40 per cent of the gate and $30,000 of the TV money. Robinson got 25 per cent of the gate and $50,000 television money.

The Senate has passed the AEA bill only.

The session ends at noon Thursday.

The truck weight bill, to increase load limit on trucks from 64,000 to 73,200 pounds, and a companion measure to increase heavy truck license fees already have passed the Senate.

They cannot come up in the House until Tuesday in co-tombary course.

Faubus indicated over the weekend he is expecting trouble from the AEA on both the retirement plan and the omnibus construction bill.

The AEA wants the state to contribute $6 million to the retirement program, and Faubus wants the state to give $3.7 million in 1961-62 and $3.9 million the next year.

The AEA is apprehensive that some money to retire bonds in the Faubus building program might eventually be drawn from the public school fund.

Both houses passed the $60 million construction bill last week and a companion measure to divert excess race track and use tax revenues for bond purposes.

But each house was acting on its own bills, and in order for them to get through the legislature, at least one set must be approved by the other house.

Navy Force Turns Away From Congo

WASHINGTON (AP)—A U.S. Navy task force has been turned back from a goodwill voyage and sent back to Congolese waters to be available in case the United Nations needs help there, the State Department said today.

The department confirmed the move in response to queries about a dispatch from Capetown, South Africa, reporting the change of plans. The vessels, two destroyers, two landing ships and an oiler, were due in Capetown Wednesday.

The move obviously was related to the situation in the supply port of Malindi where Congolese troops fought pitched battles with U.N. forces over the weekend and took control.

The ships, department spokesman Lincoln White said, are available for the United Nations if the world organization needs them.

He said he did not know whether any Marines are aboard.

While told a news conference that it is the established policy of the United States to assist the United Nations in its efforts to restore peace and order in the Congo.

The ships have been on a goodwill tour in the Atlantic off the coast of West Africa. They were on their way to Capetown when ordered to return to the coast of the civil war-torn Congo Republic.

The ships are the destroyers Vogelsang and Gearing, an LST (landing ship tank), an LSD (landing ship dock), and the oiler Nespeli.

Condition of Miss Taylor Not Good

LONDON (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor, gravely ill with pneumonia has developed anemia and is being given blood transfusions, her doctors reported tonight.

Dr. Carl Heinz Goldman, one of the actress' six-man medical team, said: "We are a little worried about her today. Her blood is not very good. She is becoming anemic and we are giving her blood transfusions."

Oklahoma Hit by Thunderstorms

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Thunderstorms raked central and eastern Oklahoma Sunday with a violent mixture of rain, hail and high winds. There was damage at Paul's Valley and the report of a twister near Prague.

The storms started in south central Oklahoma and moved northward. Central and eastern Oklahoma were under a tornado alert until midnight.

High winds caused an estimated $250,000 damage to the Valley Bowling Alley in Pauls Valley. One man was injured.

Joe Nelson, who was at work in a shop behind the bowling alley, was injured when a bottle of cleaning chemical burst into his face. He was treated in a hospital. His condition was not serious.

The Highway Patrol reported sighting a funnel in the air near Prague, but found no damage.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson talked today with Ghana's president, Kwame Nkrumah, on the Congo crisis and arranged to meet later with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold also planned to discuss the growing crisis with Nkrumah as delegates assembled for resumption of the General Assembly Tuesday.

Nkrumah will address the 99-nation assembly when it resumes its 15th session after an 11-week recess.

Hammarskjold discussed the latest Congo developments at an emergency meeting Sunday night with his 18-nation advisory committee. He dispatched instructions to the U.N. Command for urgent action, but U.N. officials would not disclose his plans.

The secretary-general sent to the Security Council a preliminary report on the fighting between Congolese and N. troops at the port cities of Banana and Matadi.

The report covered the U.N. withdrawal from Banana but was prepared before Sunday night's evacuation of Matadi.

Hammarskjold said U.N. forces had been ordered to hold the big military base at Kitona and reoccupy Banana.

In his talks here, Nkrumah was expected to press his demand that a solution of the Congo problem must be left in the hands of Africans only.

Hammarskjold said U.N. forces had been ordered to hold the big military base at Kitona and reoccupy Banana.

In his talks here, Nkrumah was expected to press his demand that a solution of the Congo problem must be left in the hands of Africans only.

British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore also was on hand for the assembly reopening.

The session is expected to last six to eight weeks.

Diplomats hoped to avoid long debate on such cold war issues as Tibet, Hungary and the Soviet complaint against U. S. reconnaissance flights, but there was no sign of agreement that the discussion could be deferred.

The main issues before the assembly will be the Congo problem, disarmament and Soviet demands that the U. N. structure be altered to replace the secretary-general with a three-man executive.

Nkrumah already has transmitted to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold his proposal for a new all-African U. N. command in the Congo which would disarm all Congolese troops, free political prisoners and reconvene Parliament. He has also proposed that all foreign diplomats leave the country.

Stevenson has made no public comment on Nkrumah's plan, but the United States is committed to support the present U. N. effort directed by Hammarskjold.

NIGHT MARSHAL

By L. P. Holmes

Chris Waddell sam the girl of the train and the storekeeper in a spirited discussion with the teamster.

Chapter I

The three - car, narrow - gauge train pulled into Decker's Flat a full hour late, which put the time of its arrival a few short minutes before sunset. From the rear coach, Chris Waddell stepped down into a gust of biting air, funneling off the timbered heights above.

He was a tall man with a gauntness that touched his face, for his cheeks were drawn and his gray eyes sunken. Above a square chin his mouth was level, slightly harsh.

Behind Waddell came a slender, supple man in the wide dark hat and long coat of the professional gambler. Except for a thin line of mustache, this was a clean-shaven one who surveyed the world from eyes reflecting the ghost of a sardonic, reckless smile.

A young woman emerged from the coach ahead. She dropped from the steps with a lithe, sure ease, then moved slightly aside, turned and made some smiling remark to the conductor as he brought down a rattan valise and a canvas gripsack. She wore a short, tan coat whose turned-up collar framed a warm-skinned, cleanly featured face. The last glow of the afternoon sunlight awakened lacy glints in her hair.

Decker's Flat was the high point of climb for the narrow gauge, as close as steel rails could get to Midas Hill, the gold camp, a good 15 miles farther back in the rugged reaches of the Banrock Mountains. The flat contained a store and warehouse and a sprawling building which was at once a bar, an eating house and a hotel of sorts.

Entering the big central building of the flat, Waddell met with a burst of culinary fragrance that made him slightly dizzy. Sixteen hours had passed since he last tasted food.

Of a clerk behind a register desk of sorts, Waddell asked his question. What was the stage fare to Midas Hill? The answer he got further lightened the lines about his mouth. Hunger, apparently, was something he had to live with for a while.

Next stage out, he further learned, would be around daylight next morning, so he faced another uncomfortable realization. A chair would have to serve as his couch this night.

Slouched low in his chair, Waddell had pulled his hat low over his eyes. He was weaker than he thought, with something almost like stupor creeping up on him. He did not notice the gambler beside him until the fellow spoke.

"Call it none of my business if you want, friend, but I'm remembering you and I rode the rattler together from Spanish Junction. A long, slow drag and I'm hungry. You must be, too. What say we go eat?"

Waddell stirred, pushed back his hat and looked up. Noting a certain honesty in the gambler's regard, his answer was merely gruff.

"For me the food would have to be free. I got just enough money to buy stage fare to Midas Hill."

"Then I'll stake you to supper," the gambler said. "I hate to eat alone."

Dark pride rose in Waddell. "Sponge on a stranger? No thanks!"

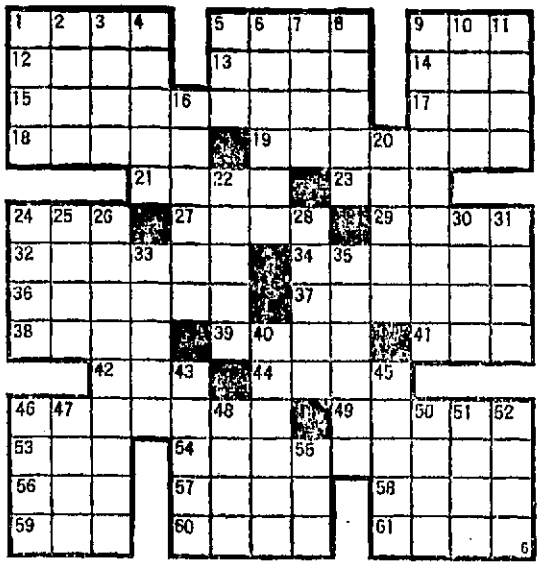

"There's an angle easy taken care of. Me, I'm MacSwain. Once Jonathan to fond parents, but better know in the profession as Ace. Now I'm no longer a stranger. So, come along."

AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

End of Audit Report.

WHAT IS ABC?

The Audit Bureau of Circulations, Chicago, by its own definition is: "A co-operative association of advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers for the verification of circulation of newspaper and periodical members in the United States and Canada."

It is controlled by those who buy advertising (manufacturing, merchandising and service companies, and their agencies) rather than those who sell advertising (newspapers and magazines).

COST OF ADVERTISING

Pick up an invoice for newspaper advertising and you will find that you are billed for so many column-inches at so much per inch. That's how it is billed — but that isn't how it is sold.

The price of an inch of advertising is meaningless unless you know what the paper's circulation is. When you know that you know the cost.

The cost of advertising is the cost per inch per thousand circulation. That's the great yardstick by which advertising is bought and sold from coast to coast. The national advertisers call it "the milline" — the cost per line (1/14th of an inch) per million circulation.

Now you know why ABC audits are important. They verify circulation — the factor which is combined with the publisher's charge per inch to establish the advertising cost yardstick.

IT'S CHEAP TODAY

Hope Star's local advertising costs about the same today as in 1929. The rate-per-inch is higher, it is true — but circulation also has increased. Here is the comparison:

| | 1929 | 1961 |
|---|------|-------|
| Local "open" rate per inch per thousand | 20c | 25.6c |

And that's a performance we feel deserves a page advertisement all its own.
